Hello there!

We're contacting you as part of our regular research to understand how Redditors engage with our platform. If you're interested in participating, please fill out this survey by November 16 (takes less than 4 minutes).

We look forward to hearing from you!

Best, Reddit

The above image is the template for all messages and anything in the inbox.

Its background color will be changed one by one:
- All odds indices must be light grey
- And all even indices must be dark grey. (this is for the dark mode)
- While in the light mode we should make it light and dark (white or light grey).

The text should all be with either light grey or dark grey, no additional colors will be used.

also the buttons used are the (delete and mark as read only and reply on the messages), no additional buttons are inserted, in any of the made features.

Will not be done

1. any animations
2. Password strength
3. Text difference between the same thing on web and mobile, we will use mobile text for simplicity, Example
